

Editor's Comment

Welcome to the 2nd Edition of the WRDQ Newsletter. We hope you have had a good summer of productivity, fun and games.

We are pleased to report another busy year, so far, and we take opportunity in this summer Edition to focus on some of the lighter activities of team WRD.

We also report pleasing recent completions and new commissions. To check out more on recent completions, new commissions and further news go to our website:- www.ruddconsult.com

We have had our annual staff team building away day in August, again at Crieff Hydro, which is always good fun as well as presenting some challenges. This year we tested our head for heights at "Aloft", tackling an assault course up in the trees.

Ice Bucket Challenge

During our Team Building, our Edinburgh Managing Director, Gus Roxburgh, was a good sport in accepting the Ice Bucket Challenge to the obvious delight of the team! Well done Gus.

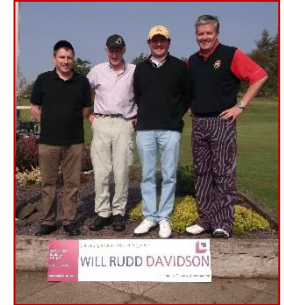

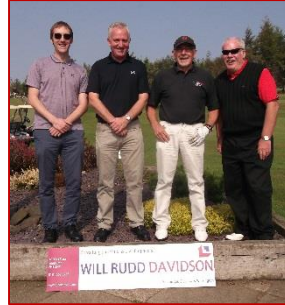

Ladies

Who said Engineering was not glamorous; we're proud of our gals, and our guys who scrub up well too! Our mix of lady and gentleman Engineers and Managers gives us a super office dynamic both socially and professionally, and always a healthy pool of opinions!

Will Rudd Davidson Golf Day

We would like to thank all of our guests for joining us at our golf day, the first since 2006. A well done to the winning team, next stop Gleneagles!

Recent Completion

Rose Street, Edinburgh

We are pleased to confirm the recent Hostel at Rose Street, Edinburgh along with Staran Architects is now complete.

Recent Completion

John Galt, Irvine

We are also pleased to confirm the recent completion of this £8.5m housing development in Irvine for North Ayrshire Council.

New Commissions

- St Andrew Square, Edinburgh – Major conservation engineering and refurbishment project for new high end offices, 5* hotel or serviced apartments for Chris Stewart Group.
- Castle Mills, Edinburgh – Refurbishment of North British Rubber Company by Edinburgh Printmakers to create new studios, retail areas, visitor attraction and gallery spaces.
- St Andrews Drive, Glasgow – New 3 phase urban regeneration housing development for Southside HA

For our latest Technology news, check out our next edition of WRDQ